

KEYTO Group broadens its service offering in Sweden as Enspecta joins the group

KEYTO Group continues its growth journey by strengthening its offering in Sweden as Enspecta joins the group. This strategic addition marks KEYTO's entry into a new service vertical focused on home inspection, assessment and optimisation – and reinforces the ambition of a leading, tech-enabled one-stop destination for home-related services

Founded in 2008 and headquartered in Malmö, Enspecta is a trusted provider of home inspection, assessment, and optimisation services – giving customers a comprehensive understanding of their house. With a strong reputation among homeowners, tenants, and property owners, Enspecta combines deep technical property expertise with a strong customer focus, helping individuals make informed and confident decisions about their homes. With a clear commitment to quality, transparency, and sustainability Enspecta delivers real value throughout the inspection journey.

Through this partnership, KEYTO and Enspecta will continue drive growth and enhance customer value. Leveraging shared values of professionalism, digitalisation, and sustainability, this partnership marks an important step towards KEYTO Group's vision.

Magnus Agervald, CEO of KEYTO Group, comments:

"Enspecta is an outstanding company with excellent expertise, certified professionals, and a respected market presence in Sweden. Through the partnership with Enspecta, we are expanding into a highly relevant new service area and taking another important step toward becoming the leading provider of home related services."

Jonas Persson, CEO of Enspecta:

"Joining KEYTO Group aligns perfectly with Enspecta's vision to deliver best-in-class services with focus on inspection, assessment, and optimisation services. As part of a leading service group, we now have even greater opportunities to innovate and offer enhanced value to our customers, employees and partners."
