Continued progress recognised in Bufab's CDP results 2026

Bufab has taken yet another important step forward in its sustainability journey. In the 2026 CDP assessment, we achieved an A-rating for climate change, reflecting the ongoing development of our climate strategy and the measures implemented throughout the organisation and value chain.

The results show that our systematic and integrated approach to sustainability is delivering results. By integrating sustainability into our purchasing, operations, and collaboration with suppliers, we not only reduce our own environmental impact but also create value for our customers through responsible sourcing, increased transparency in the supply chain, reduced sustainability-related risks, and support in achieving their own sustainability goals.

"We are proud of the progress achieved throughout the organisation and value chain. Sustainability is a journey of continuous improvement. We continue to strengthen our efforts together with our suppliers, customers, and other partners to create measurable and long-term positive effects," says Carina Lööf, Group Director Sustainability & Sourcing at Bufab.
