WPTG signs LOI to acquire 51% of Guerilla Tactical Services in South Africa

White Pearl Technology Group AB (publ) (“WPTG” or “the Company”) announces that the Company has signed a Letter of Intent (LOI) to acquire a 51% stake in Guerilla Tactical Services (“Guerilla”), a South Africa-based security and tactical services provider, for a cash consideration of SEK 3 million. The transaction remains subject to customary due diligence and final binding agreements.

About Guerilla Tactical Services

Guerilla provides specialised tactical, security, and operational services, with a growing footprint in high-value, mission-critical environments. Guerilla is an established South African operator with:

- Revenue of approximately SEK 15 million
- EBITDA margins of approximately 15%
- 108 employees
- A strong client base including leading organisations such as Bidvest and Vodacom

Strategic expansion within Smart infrastructure, AI, Robotics and Drone solutions

The proposed acquisition represents a key step in advancing WPTG’s Smart Infrastructure and AI strategy. The Company aims to expand into high-growth areas such as AI-driven security and surveillance, robotics-enabled monitoring, drone-based services, and integrated command-and-control systems.

By combining Guerilla’s operational expertise with WPTG’s AI, data analytics, and digital platform capabilities, the Company intends to create a differentiated, technology-led offering. This positions WPTG to meet increasing demand from public and private sector clients for intelligent, scalable infrastructure solutions.

Synergies

Through WPTG’s platform model, Guerilla is expected to benefit from cross- and upselling opportunities, as well as deployment of AI-powered solutions, automation tools, and advanced analytics. The integration also provides access to new markets and geographies.

These combined strengths are expected to accelerate growth in the short to medium term and improve margins through technology-driven efficiencies.
