Ovzon strengthens the Group Management

Ovzon continues to strengthen its organization with new recruitments to the Group Management with an increased focus on growth, business development, product-, service- and technology development.

Ovzon's Group Management now consists of the following seven people:

- Per Norén, Chief Executive Officer
- Noora Jayasekara, Chief Financial Officer
- Tom Hopkins, Chief Operating Officer
- Kenneth Lejnell, Chief Technology Officer
- Daniel Gager, Chief Commercial Officer
- Kristofer Alm, Chief Marketing Officer
- Lars-Ola Klockervold, Chief Engineer

Kristofer Alm joined Ovzon in the spring of 2023. Kristofer brings a broad and deep international experience from the telecom industry in various roles at Telia and Ericsson. As the Chief Marketing Officer (CMO) at Ovzon, Kristofer will primarily focus on growth, business development, product- and service development, brand positioning and strategy.

Lars-Ola Klockervold assumed the position of Chief Engineer during spring 2023. He most recently had the role as Managing Director Syntronic Research & Development. He has extensive experience from leadership roles at leading Swedish industrial companies such as Sandvik and Ericsson. At Ovzon, Lars-Ola will lead the product development organization to ensure the technical development of new and current products. He is also responsible for supply-chain management and production.

Daniel Gager will leave his position at Ovzon on September 1, 2023. The company has started a recruitment process for a new Chief Commercial Officer.

“We warmly welcome Kristofer and Lars-Ola to Ovzon and at the same time we want to thank Dan, who has been a valued part of the leadership team, for his contributions that will benefit the organization for many years to come. We wish Dan the best of luck in his future assignments”, says Ovzon CEO Per Norén.
