

Divio has signed a multi-year contract with a new branch of the Swiss Army

Divio is pleased to announce the expansion of its partnership with the Swiss Army, securing a new customer relationship with a branch dedicated to innovation. This entry-level deal arose in the wake of our previous agreement with the Swiss Government's defense department as announced on June 29, 2023, which has paved the way for continued collaboration. The initial deal means an additional MRR of USD 420.

"It's fantastic to have secured another entry-level opportunity with a new customer, building on our existing relationship with the Swiss Army. I'm also pleased to see how, once we establish a presence, we can successfully expand our business through strong performance and a solid reputation," says Jon Levin, CEO Divio Technologies.
