

Enad Global 7 announces the release of a new expansion in The Lord of the Rings Online™: The Wolves of Mordor

Enad Global 7 today announces that Standing Stone Games, a Daybreak Games studio, has released the latest expansion, The Wolves of Mordor, for the free-to-play MMORPG The Lord of the Rings Online.

The Wolves of Mordor is the 14th expansion for The Lord of the Rings Online since its launch in April 2007. The expansion is priced between USD 39.99 and 129.99, and takes players to Draugardh, a remote region beyond the known lands of Mordor, where ancient evils continue to threaten Middle-earth. The expansion introduces three new regions to explore, a new epic storyline, and new challenges as players face the were-wolves of Mordor.

The expansion also introduces Survival Instincts, a new character progression system that allows players to customize their abilities and strengthen their characters, as well as Neighbours, a new housing feature that enables players to build relationships with companions through stories, gifts and daily missions.

The expansion further develops the game's world and gameplay, offering players new areas to explore, systems to master and stories to experience.
