

Avonova launches new digital booking system for occupational health services

Avonova is now introducing Avonova Booking, a brand-new digital platform for scheduling and appointment management. Developed in collaboration with health tech company Eyr, the solution simplifies the booking and follow-up of occupational health services for employers and employees in both Sweden and Norway.

Today, booking processes are often characterized by manual routines that take time and risk causing misunderstandings. With Avonova Booking, the process becomes more flexible, user-friendly and efficient, allowing managers and HR departments to book services for individuals or entire teams in just minutes. Employees can also book or reschedule their own appointments at their convenience. Another major benefit is that coordinators and clinics can eliminate many manual steps, freeing up time for follow-up and services.

- We are proud to offer our customers a system that simplifies everyday operations. Bookings and reschedulings can now be made faster, with fewer errors and shorter waiting times. This means we can allocate more resources to the actual health services, says Jonas Arlebäck, Group CEO of Avonova.

Avonova Booking will be rolled out in stages, and Avonova's customers will receive direct information about when they gain access to the system, along with clear user support and guidance. The solution complies with current data protection and information security regulations, with built-in safeguards to ensure secure handling of personal data.

Developed in collaboration with Eyr

The platform has been developed and tested through close collaboration between Avonova and Eyr. The project has been ongoing for ten months, with the goal of creating a solution that benefits customers, employees and clinics alike.

- Although Eyr is a smaller player, we have many years of experience working with demanding partners such as Gjensidige and DNB. This project is the most extensive we have delivered to date, and we're proud to have achieved it together with Avonova, says Karl Martin Lind Founder of Eyr.

Key features of the system

- Booking for entire teams or groups
- Simplified rescheduling and follow-up
- Integration with central systems for improved coordination
- Stable and scalable solution for both Sweden and Norway

For more information

Jonas Arlebäck, Group CEO Avonova

jonas.arleback@avonova.se

+46 70 14 48 763

Karl Martin Lind, Founder Eyr
+47 932 09 995

About Avonova

Avonova is Nordic's leading provider of occupational health services and is the only Nordic occupational health services provider with a fully integrated hybrid digital/physical delivery model.

Avonova offers a comprehensive range of services to promote well-being and reduce absences, among employees of companies and institutions of all sizes and in all industries. It is leading in preventive evidence based occupational health services in highest impact areas, such as presenteeism, vaccination, and drug testing and rehab.

Avonova has its main offices in Larvik, Norway and Stockholm, Sweden and delivers its services digitally and from 166 locations in Norway and Sweden, by about 1 100 employees – mainly physicians, psychiatrists, nurses, and workplace engineers. For more information, visit www.avonova.se/no/fi.

About Eyr

Eyr is a digital clinic offering services from physicians, psychologists and physiotherapists. The company specializes in developing digital health platforms that improve the flow of information and interaction between patients, clinics and businesses. Learn more at eyr.md.