Nasdaq intends to submit a request to the Disciplinary Committee to decide to de-list DUG Foodtech shares from Nasdaq First North Growth Market

DUG Foodtech AB ("DUG Foodtech ") has received a statement from Nasdaq Stockholm ("Nasdaq") in which Nasdaq informs DUG Foodtech that Nasdaq intends to submit a request to the Disciplinary Committee of Nasdaq Stockholm to decide to de-list DUG Foodtech's shares from Nasdaq First North Growth Market. Nasdaq requests that the Disciplinary Committee, primarily, decide on the delisting of the Company's shares from Nasdaq First North Growth Market or, alternatively, impose a significant fine on the Company.

Nasdaq has assessed that the Company has, in various respects and on multiple occasions, committed violations of the Rulebook.

The company has the possibility to request an oral hearing, or to submit a written statement to the disciplinary committee. However, Nasdaq has not raised any suspicions of illegal conduct; the concerns relate solely to deficiencies in the Company's information disclosure and nothing else.
