

Realfiction Holding AB invites investors to experience its Directional Pixel Technology

Realfiction Holding AB ("Realfiction" or "the Company") is pleased to invite its shareholders to a presentation and live demonstration of its Directional Pixel Technology at the Company's offices in Copenhagen on Friday, 6 February at 14:00.

The presentation was previously communicated to take place in the second half of January. Due to ongoing commercial activities following Realfiction's participation at CES, the Company has decided to reschedule the presentation to early February.

The presentation will provide shareholders with the opportunity to experience the same Directional Pixel Technology demonstrations that Realfiction recently showcased at CES, illustrating the technology's glasses-free multi-view and 3D capabilities.

Registration: Please register by sending an email to contact@realfiction.com.

Additional practical details will be provided to registered participants ahead of the event.
