Press release	Stockholm, 02/06/2025
---------------	-----------------------

On the theme of "the best of 30 years", we will combine retrospectives and future views on the hotel market. We explain the development of the hotel market over the past 30 years and analyze what the most important drivers are for its continued development. We promise exciting speakers, an interactive format, and valuable insights.

More information about the agenda for the day and the registration will be published on www.pandox.se. Please note that the number of physical participants is limited.

Pandox introduced the Hotel Market Day in 1996 with the aim of reflecting and analysing important changes in the world around us and contributing to increasing the level of knowledge in and about the hotel industry. Since then, the day has developed into a dynamic meeting place for decision-makers in the international hotel industry.

A warm welcome!
