FM Mattsson Mora Group receives silver ranking from EcoVadis for its sustainability work

FM Mattsson Mora Group has achieved a silver ranking in the EcoVadis annual international ranking that measures companies sustainability work. “We are really proud to be among the best in our industry,” says Björn Erkersson, Head of Quality.

EcoVadis is an independent, international analysis company that annually analyses and evaluates companies' sustainability work. The assessments are based on criteria relating to environment, working conditions, human rights and sustainable procurement. The method is based on international CSR standards including the Global Reporting Initiative, the UN Global Compact and ISO 26000.

” They have done a thorough and comprehensive review of our CSR work. The silver ranking means that we are among the top 16 percent within our part of the manufacturing industry.” FM Mattsson Mora Group works proactively and continuously to reduce the Group's environmental footprint and constantly strives to become even better at all aspects of sustainability. This focus permeates the entire value chain from production to product use.

” Several of our customers request an EcoVadis certification and it feels really good that the great work that we do is recognised by the EcoVadis framework. By choosing products from us, our customers can feel secure that they are contributing positively to the environment. Our products help to reduce water and energy consumption and are manufactured in a sustainable way.”

“Now, we are going for gold.” says Fredrik Skarp, CEO of FM Mattsson Mora Group.
