

Welcome to our new Deputy CEO

We are pleased to welcome Magnus Andersson as our new Deputy CEO, who joined us on January 1st. Magnus will play a key role in driving our continued growth and commitment to delivering high-quality plastic injection moulding solutions.

You can read Magnus' first thought about the journey ahead:

"I am very impressed with what I have seen so far within KB Components. It is a very entrepreneurial organization with strong and engaged teams, impressive and up to date factories, and solid structures and processes. A strong platform to stand on as we continue the journey of growing the business, providing innovative solutions, and serving our customers with quality from our growing global footprint.

I look forward to contributing to KB's continued journey of profitable growth. With focus on adding value to our customers, being an innovative and reliable partner and embracing our newly acquired companies and colleagues we will generate both organic and acquired growth for all our stakeholders."

We are excited to have Magnus on board and look forward to working together to achieve our goals. Please, join us in welcoming Magnus to the team!
