Attendo is building a new social psychiatry home in Oulu, Finland

Attendo is building a new home within the social psychiatry segment in Sarvikangas, Oulu. The home will have 50 places and is expected to be open in December 2027. The new unit offers a calm environment close to nature, near the City of Oulu.

The home is being built on two floors, and both the apartments and the shared spaces are being designed around residents' need for a safe home and support in their everyday lives.

"We are delighted that a new home is now being built in Sarvikangas. Our goal is for the unit to offer a safe home for our residents during the time they need rehabilitation and recovery," says Teemu Peltomäki, Head of the Disabled Care and Social Psychiatry segments at Attendo Finland.

The building is constructed from low-carbon Finnish logs, and solar panels will be installed on the roof.
