
Weekly Edge Case – Lime Technologies

Momentum tells you the market has already noticed a stock. Value tells you there may still be room to pay for it. The two rarely point the same way in a name that has spent most of the past year out of favour, which is what makes this week's case worth a closer look. Each Weekly Edge Case takes one company surfaced by Market Edge and reads it through the framework of Quality Rating together with Value and Momentum. This week the spotlight falls on Lime Technologies, where the Value score has just turned up a notch while Momentum has held firm at the very top of the scale.
