VNV Global establishes Luxembourg fund for emerging-market technology investments

VNV Global AB (publ) ("VNV Global") today announces the establishment of a new Luxembourg-based fund formed on the initiative of VNV Global that will invest in tech companies in emerging markets.

The fund has received initial capital commitments from VNV Global and a small group of long-term investors. The fund is managed by an authorised external alternative investment fund manager, and its general partner is wholly owned by VNV Global. The fund is part of VNV Global's long-term strategy to build a fund platform alongside its existing portfolio, and expects to make its first investments in the coming months.

VNV Global's CEO Per Brilioth comments:

"The fund allows us to continue backing exciting emerging-market technology companies, together with a small group of like-minded long-term co-investors. Our ambition is that it will grow into a meaningful contributor to VNV Global over time. We look forward to putting its capital to work."
