Elliptic Labs' presents its AI Virtual Smart Sensor Platform™ at Intel's 2022 Client Ecosystem Symposium

Oslo, Norway -- Elliptic Labs (OSE: ELABS), a global AI software company and the world leader in AI Virtual Smart Sensors™, is announcing its participation in the 2022 Intel Client Ecosystem Symposium. Invitations to this symposium are only handed out to select Intel ecosystem OEMs, ODMs, ISV, and IHVs partners. Elliptic Labs' will be sharing how the AI Virtual Smart Sensor Platform introduces unique and innovative software-only critical features like human presence detection (HPD) for security and power savings, gesture and external device position detection for ease-of-use experiences for next-generation Intel platforms.

"We are excited to share the value our technology has to new and current PC customers and partners at the Intel Client Ecosystem Symposium," said Laila Danielsen CEO of Elliptic Labs "Being chosen to be a part of this year's symposium demonstrates industry-wide acknowledgment of the value and power our AI Virtual Smart Sensor Platform brings to the market."

About Elliptic Labs
Elliptic Labs is a global enterprise targeting the smartphone, laptop, IoT, and automotive markets. Founded in 2006 as a research spin-off from Norway's Oslo University, the company's patented software uses AI, ultrasound, and sensor-fusion to create AI Virtual Smart Sensors that deliver intuitive 3D gesture-, proximity-, presence-, breathing-, and heartbeat -detection experiences. Its scalable AI Virtual Smart Sensor Platform™ creates software-only sensors that are sustainable, human-friendly, and already deployed in hundreds of millions of devices around the world. Elliptic Labs is the only software company that has delivered detection capabilities using AI software, ultrasound, and sensor-fusion deployed at scale. The company is listed on the Oslo Børs.

Elliptic Labs is headquartered in Norway with presence in the USA, China, South -Korea, Taiwan, and Japan. Its technology and IP are developed in Norway and are solely owned by the company.
