

Patent and Market court resolution of claims made by former employee

The Patent and Market court rejected a former employee claim on C-RAD for compensation. The court ruled that the former employee is not entitled to any compensation.

The background is a lawsuit that was filed against C-RAD on May 9th, 2020 from a former employee, claiming compensation for an invention made during his employment at C-RAD. C-RAD strongly rejected the lawsuit and considered the compensation claim to be highly excessive, herewith confirmed by the court verdict.

This is the fourth in a series of disputes with the company where the counterpart was either the same former employee or the company Beamocular AB (owned by the former employee and now in bankruptcy) for which he has been CEO. In all four cases C-RAD has prevailed.

Furthermore, the court verdict states that the former employee should bear C-RAD's legal fees, amounting to 2.9 MSEK. The verdict can be appealed.
