

Mentice Appoints Rick van Veen as Chief Financial Officer and Announces Changes to the Executive Management Group

Mentice AB (publ), Gothenburg, Sweden – Mentice today announced the appointment of Rick van Veen as Chief Financial Officer, effective July 1, 2026. Rick brings extensive experience in financial management and business leadership from a global MedTech company. Ulrika Drotz, Mentice current CFO will be leaving Mentice on August 1 2026, following a transition period to support a smooth handover.

As part of this development, Mentice is evolving the structure of its Executive Management Group to further increase speed, and impact towards our customers. Mentice takes the opportunity to develop the CFO role to include global business operations. In addition, the COO role will be consolidated, and the responsibilities will be shared across the Executive Management Group. Jonatan Sjöström, Mentice current COO will be leaving the company on April 30, 2026.

“Ulrika and Jonatan have both made valuable contributions to Mentice during their time with the company, helping strengthen the business and supporting the company’s long-term development,” said Frans Venker, CEO of Mentice. “We thank them for their dedication and commitment, and we wish them both continued success in the future.”

Frans Venker added “We are pleased to welcome Rick van Veen to Mentice, Rick brings strong financial expertise and leadership experience, and his profile is well aligned with Mentice growth journey.”

Mentice continues to execute its strategy, and the company confirms that business operations remain unchanged. Mentice remains focused on delivering sustainable, profitable growth.
