JUMP GATE'S HAMBURG BASED GAME STUDIOS ARE AWARDED 1.7 MSEK IN PUBLIC GRANTS FOR PROTOTYPES FOR NEW GAME PROJECTS

On May 19, it was announced that Jumpgate's Hamburg based game studios Tivola Games and gameXcite were awarded public grants totalling 160 000 EUR (ca 1.7 MSEK) for the development of prototypes for the game projects Pet Universe and Space Station Manager respectively. The grants are awarded by Gamecity Hamburg (part of Hamburg Kreativ Gesellschaft). For additional information, see:

"We are proud and grateful that two of our game studios have been selected and that their projects are part of the group of six game projects in total which were awarded public funding from Gamecity Hamburg. The competition has been fierce and it's a testament to the capacity of our skilled teams that we have gone all the way with our applications, which is very satisfying. With the support from these grants we strengthen our project pipeline and will be able to add two more prototypes for new game projects. This enforces the image of Germany as an attractive country for game development and Hamburg as a good base for a substantial part of our business. We expect to follow up these good news with additional information on our applications for federal grants for other game projects shortly", says Harald Riegler, CEO Jumpgate AB.
