

Acconeer awarded design win by Japanese car manufacturer

Acconeer's A121 pulsed coherent radar has been selected by one more Japanese car manufacturer for the use case access control to enable handsfree opening of the trunk. Launch of the first model is planned for 2026, with an additional model in 2028.

CEO Ted Hansson comments: "I feel pride to announce a design win with one more Japanese car brand; known for its reliable and practical vehicles. In relation to the total announced automotive design win value of USD 74 million between 2024 and 2032 I don't expect this to have a significant impact, but entering this brand paves the way to be selected for more use cases and car models."

Sales to this manufacturer will be reflected in orders by Acconeer's distributors. A design win is counted when a formal nomination is received, or when forecasted sales can be done with high reliability.

About Acconeer AB

With ground-breaking technology, Acconeer has developed a radar sensor that opens a new world of interaction. Acconeer Micro Radar Sensor, with low power consumption, high precision, small size and high robustness, is a 60GHz robust and cost-effective sensor for detection, distance measurement, motion detection and camera-supported applications with low power consumption. Acconeer combines the advantage of low power consumption with highly accurate pulsed radar systems of coherent radar, all integrated into a component with a surface area of only 28 mm². The radar sensor can be included in a range of mobile consumer products, from smartphones to wearables, but also in areas such as robots, drones, the Internet of Things, healthcare, automotive, industrial robots and security and monitoring systems. Acconeer is a semiconductor company and, as a business model, sells hardware to manufacturers of consumer electronics products. Acconeer is listed on Nasdaq First North Growth Market with the ticker code ACCON, Redeye is the company's Certified Advisor (CA). For more information: www.acconeer.com.
