Norcod welcomes Anders Skaare as Head of People & Culture

Norcod has appointed Anders Skaare in the newly established position as Head of People & Culture, supporting the cod farmer's focus on organisational development in time of significant growth.

Skaare joins Norcod from a similar role at wellboat operator Frøy and brings extensive experience working with human resources and organisational development across Norwegian companies.

In the new role, Skaare will be responsible for continued development of a strong organisation and structure at Norcod, including supporting recruitment, internal communications and employee development.

"We are excited to welcome Anders to this important new role at Norcod. As we continue to grow, we are building a robust organisation with shared values, and a positive workplace culture is essential. With Anders onboard, we are looking forward to further develop our organisation and all the talented people working across our operations," said Christian Riber, CEO of Norcod.

"I'm looking forward to contributing to further growth at Norcod. We'll continue to professionalise how we work, building a culture of continuous learning, opportunity and change. By setting our people up to succeed, we will become the employer of choice in our industry," said Anders Skaare.

Skaare commences his role at the start of November and will be based at Norcod's head office in Trondheim, Norway.
