
Sebastian Robson to leave his position as CFO of Hexicon

Hexicon's CFO Sebastian Robson has today informed the company that he has decided to resign from his role to assume a similar position in a Swedish group within a non-competitive business. He will remain in his current role during the notice period of 4 months. The process to recruit his successor begins immediately.

Marcus Thor, CEO of Hexicon, said: "During his time at Hexicon, Sebastian has been an appreciated colleague and CFO that I personally have had a great cooperation with. I want to thank him for his many contributions to the business, and especially for his hard work in the preparations ahead of our IPO earlier this year. We will continue working together for a few more months while simultaneously searching for his successor."

For more information, please contact:

Marcus Thor, CEO Hexicon
+46 73 924 44 93
marcus.thor@hexicon.eu

About Hexicon

Hexicon develops wind power projects in deep water areas based on a patented technology for floating windfarms that enables generation of large amounts of renewable energy offshore. The company was founded in 2009 and has participated in development projects all over the world, including the world's largest floating wind farm off of South Korea. Floating wind power is considered a key component as the world moves from fossil fuels to renewable energy. Hexicon is listed at Nasdaq First North Premier Growth Market (ticker HEXI). Certified Adviser is FNCA Sweden AB, info@fnca.se, +46 (0) 8528 00 399. For more information, please visit www.hexicon.eu.

Attachments

Sebastian Robson to leave his position as CFO of Hexicon