4C awarded four-year framework agreement for training and exercise services from Europol

4C Strategies, a leading software provider and consulting company, has been awarded a four-year framework agreement from the European Union Agency for Law Enforcement Cooperation (Europol).

4C Strategies has added a new client to its growing list of EU agencies with the signing of a four-year framework contract with Europol. The agreement, which includes crisis management, exercising and consulting services, will be run by 4C experts using the Exonaut platform.

“We are very proud to have signed this agreement with Europol,” says Stefan Liebig, Sales Director, 4C International. “We support many large international organizations with skills and capability-building exercises. Our extensive experience from running crisis management exercises with attendees from across Europe and beyond will prove extremely valuable in our work in helping Europol become more resilient.”

The Exonaut platform is used by many organizations to not only build resilience and train effectively, but also manage incidents and crises in real-time. Exonaut clients include the European External Action Service, Oatly, the British, Swedish and US Armies, and many more.

“In today’s uncertain times, organizations must be prepared for the fast-changing risk landscape,” comments Jonas Jonsson, Managing Director, 4C International. “In a few short years we have experienced multiple crises including a pandemic and war in Europe. Building resilience is business critical and we are the leading provider to help organizations do that.”
