GOODBYE KANSAS WINS MAJOR ORDER FOR IN-GAME CINEMATICS

Goodbye Kansas has signed a major order to produce high-fidelity in-game cinematics for a highly anticipated upcoming title based on a globally recognised entertainment IP. The order value amounts to approximately SEK 26 million, with final delivery expected during Q4 2026.

The assignment includes the production and delivery of in-engine cinematic sequences as part of a modern game production pipeline. The project reflects Goodbye Kansas' established position in the games industry and its ability to support major developers and publishers with cinematic production, real-time integration and technical execution.

"This is an important order for Goodbye Kansas, both commercially and strategically," said Carsten Myhill, CEO of Goodbye Kansas Group. "It reflects the trust we have earned in the games industry and the continued demand for partners who can combine high-end cinematic storytelling with real-time production capabilities. Games is our engine, and this is exactly the kind of high-value, closely integrated work we want to build more of."

The project also reflects the company's ongoing focus on higher-value games assignments, where creative quality, technical execution and production discipline are central to delivery.
