

Stern Engineering launches on bimobject.com to boost architect awareness of its touchless sanitary solutions

BIMobject announced today that Stern Engineering is the latest brand to join bimobject.com, the global marketplace for the construction industry.

Stern Engineering, founded in 1989, is a world leader in the sanitary market, producing solutions for commercial and premium residential bathrooms that are distributed in 80 countries across the globe. With a complete range of touchless products, Stern Engineering is able to supply touchless solutions that both preserve water consumption and prevent the spread of viruses and bacteria.

"When choosing a partner for our BIM strategy, we looked for a company with the same global footprint that we have, and strong expertise in BIM content development. We believe we have found a great match in BIMobject", said Jicko Chetrit, General Manager of Stern Engineering USA.

"BIMobject is proud to partner with a leader in the sanitary industry such as Stern Engineering. Touchless bathrooms are an example of technology innovation that brings both environmental and health benefits, which the world needs more of", said Martin Lindh, interim CEO of BIMobject.

Over 200 Stern products are now available in BIM format on BIMobject.com.
