Enersense International Plc, a provider of zero emission energy solutions, and Telia Finland Oyj have signed a three-year extension agreement on the provision of telecommunications network field services. The value of the agreement is EUR 70 million and will be recognised in the order backlog of Enersense's Connectivity segment for the fourth quarter of 2024. The agreement includes one option year.

The agreement covers mobile and fixed network construction services, customer delivery and fault repair services, and preventive maintenance services in Finland. The agreement is a continuation of the companies' long-standing cooperation and its scope is similar to their previous framework agreement on field services. The new agreement period will begin on 1 April 2025.

"The multi-year, extensive partnership enables us to develop our services in the long term together with our customer. I would like to thank Telia for the trust and our personnel for their high-quality work. We are pleased that the agreement also reflects our commitment to sustainability work and in particular to setting emission reduction targets. As an enabler of the green energy transition, it is important for us to act in line with the Paris Climate Agreement and to support our customers in achieving their sustainability goals," says Miika Eerola, Vice President, Connectivity at Enersense.
