

Patrik Enblad elected new chairman of Qliro

Patrik Enblad has been elected as the new Chairman of the Board of Qliro during the Annual General Meeting. He succeeds Lennart Jacobsen, who has been the Chairman of the company since 2018.

Patrik Enblad has a combination of experiences that are very valuable for Qliro, as over the years he has worked with companies in both the financial and tech sectors. The board assignment at Qliro will be his third in the fintech industry, as his previous experiences include roles as Chairman of the board of Orc Software and board member of Cinnober. He has also previously been CEO of HQ Bank and Newsec. His current roles include the chairmanship of tech companies Instabridge and Degoo.

“I am grateful for the trust from the shareholders and look forward to be working with all employees to strengthen Qliro's competitiveness and continue to grow the company. I look forward to working with Qliro, which in my view has great potential with its product offering and which is now the only player that actively focuses on being a payment solution provider with e-merchants in focus”, Says Patrik Enblad.
