

Ammunity and Nordic Shield Group at Eurosatory 2026

Next week, two Astor Group companies will be present at Eurosatory 2026 in Paris, one of the world's leading exhibitions for defence and security. From 15 to 19 June, representatives from Ammunity and Nordic Shield Group (NSG) will meet customers, partners, industry peers and government stakeholders from across Europe and beyond.

Eurosatory brings together the defence, security and critical infrastructure sectors, creating an important platform for dialogue, collaboration and long-term business development.

For Ammunity, the exhibition provides an opportunity to showcase its growing production capabilities as part of the Latvian pavilion and strengthen relationships with defence organisations and industry partners, at a time when European ammunition supply and industrial capacity remain high on the agenda.

For Nordic Shield Group, recently integrated as a wholly owned subsidiary of Astor Group, Eurosatory offers a valuable forum to present its solutions for protected facilities, secure infrastructure and specialised security environments, while engaging with customers facing increasingly complex security requirements. NSG will be exhibiting in the Swedish pavilion.

Participation in international exhibitions such as Eurosatory is an important part of Astor Group's ambition to build a stronger European ecosystem of specialised defence, security and resilience companies. Beyond products and technologies, these events are ultimately about people, partnerships and collaboration.

More about Eurosatory:

Held every two years in Paris, Eurosatory is among the world's leading defence and security exhibitions. The event gathers thousands of exhibitors and visitors from across the defence, security and critical infrastructure sectors, providing a key meeting place for industry, government and military stakeholders.
