Nolato exposed to a data breach

Nolato has been exposed to a data breach. To investigate, remedy and minimize the impact, Nolato has activated IT expertise which, together with internal staff and external suppliers, conduct intensive work. The intrusion means that Nolato's communication channels and operating systems are mainly affected in the European part of the business.

According to an initial analysis, the intrusion does not affect any personal data, but the incident will be reported to both the Swedish police and the Swedish Authority for Privacy Protection.
