

QleanAir signs a second contract with the German space industry for a new air cleaning solution

QleanAir AB (publ), the premium provider of solutions for clean indoor air, has previously announced a strategic partnership with German space company OHB. QleanAir has now, in collaboration with OHB, signed the second contract to deliver a customized clean zone solution.

QleanAir has won another contract to develop a customized clean zone solution. QleanAir was the only supplier able to find a viable solution that met the high requirements for quality, flexibility, and know-how.

– At QleanAir we are very excited about our co-operation with OHB and about the opportunity to create a clean environment in such a high demanding industry as the space industry, says Bo Dolk-Petersson Project Leader at QleanAir.

The unique and customized solution is based on QleanAir's modular cleanroom components and will create a clean zone with the highest possible technical cleanliness without having to build an actual cleanroom. The order value of the first step of the project is 227 000 EUR and the installation is planned for Q1 2024.

– We are happy about this strategic collaboration with OHB which is a good testament to our unique set of strengths and capabilities, says Sebastian Lindström, CEO, QleanAir. We look forward to more exciting projects within this strategic partnership.
