

Mikael Landberg takes on the position as Chief Operating Officer and member of OX2's Leadership Team

Mikael Landberg takes on the position as Chief Operating Officer and member of OX2's Leadership Team, and will be responsible for developing and implementing a human resources strategy that aligns with OX2's business strategy and targets.

In his new position Mikael Landberg will be responsible for talent management, remuneration matters, culture and ensuring an effective management of HR systems and data analytics to support OX2's business needs. Mikael Landberg has extensive experience from the international and listed environment. Most recently he comes from Veoneer, a world leader in automotive electronics safety. Before that he held similar positions at Sweco and DeLaval.

"I am very happy to have Mikael Landberg onboard and to welcome him to the Leadership Team. His combination of a business oriented approach and his solid experience and leadership skills will be valuable for OX2", says Paul Stormoen, CEO OX2.

"I am highly motivated to take on the role as CPO for OX2 and to be part of an exciting journey. The mission to accelerate the access to renewable energy has never been more important than now. I am excited to be part of leading such a competent and relevant organization", says Mikael Landberg.

Mikael succeeds Katarina Grönwall, who remains in her position as Chief Sustainability and Communications Officer.
