

ZignSec Signs an Agreement With Wise to Optimise Customer Verifications

ZignSec AB has signed an agreement with the London Stock Exchange listed company Wise (formerly known as Transferwise), one of the fastest growing money transfer services.

The agreement follows a three-month proof of concept (POC) phase where local eID schemes in several countries have been offered to Wise customers with the objective to optimise the current user registration and verification flow. After the successful completion of the POC with increased user acceptance, the service will now be rolled out across more and more countries globally.

Comment from Timm Schneider, CEO of ZignSec:

"Wise is an excellent example of implementing and utilising ZignSec's services exactly as they are meant to be used. This agreement is a big achievement in demonstrating our global network of services ready for usage on a global scale. Wise is a well trusted and very fast-growing global company and ZignSec ensures that Wise gets access to the best and most accepted identification and verification schemes for country-specific regulatory compliance through a single integration so they can focus solely on their core business."
