Soltech's Dutch subsidiary 365zon wins new solar projects with an order value of SEK 55 million

365zon is the Soltech Group's first subsidiary in the Netherlands and was acquired in April this year. The company has won an auction for the Netherlands' largest organization for homeowners, Vereniging Eigen Huis. The winning assignment means that the company will install solar panels on 1,000 houses in the coming six months. The order value amounts to SEK 55 million.

The Dutch solar energy company 365zon was Soltech's first international acquisition when they became part of the Group on April 1 this year. The company is one of the largest solar energy companies on the Dutch market and is focused on solar energy solutions and charging solutions for the consumer market, housing associations and organizations for homeowners and tenant owned apartments.

They have now won a solar energy auction organized by the homeowners' association Vereniging Eigen Huis to offer its members opportunities to obtain high-quality solar energy installations. 365zon was one of the installers that won the assignment, where the participating companies were judged on customer satisfaction, delivery reliability and quality measurements, among others. This means that 365zon will install solar panels on 1,000 houses over the next 6 months.

– We are proud to help Vereniging Eigen Huis with 1,000 solar installations. The win is a proof that we maintain a high level of customer satisfaction and deliver quality services. The assignment is also strategically important for the future, which is great news for the entire 365zon, says Levi van de Ven, Managing Director of 365zon.

– I want to send my warmest congratulations to Levi and the team who landed this prestigious mission. 365zon is a highly valued company in the Soltech Group and deals like this shows the potential of the Dutch solar market, says Stefan Ölander, CEO of Soltech Energy.
