Analysguiden: "The share is clearly undervalued at today's level".

In an analysis from Aktiespararna's analysis service Analysguiden, the analysts highlight a clear upside in the Soltech share and believe that the rights issue announced yesterday is an important step to make Soltech's aim to take an even bigger share of the market possible.

Analysguiden also points out that Soltech's objectives are aggressive but entirely possible and that the group is on an incomparable acquisition journey.

Furthermore, they believe that even though the dilution is not insignificant, the rights issue significantly lowers the risk in the share and the issue guarantee is a sign of strength in an otherwise weak market.
