

MIDSONA RECOGNIZED FOR CLIMATE WORK – ONCE AGAIN RECEIVES HIGHEST GRADE A FROM CDP

Midsona has once again been recognized for its climate strategy and leadership by the global non-profit environmental initiative CDP. For the second year in a row, Midsona achieves the highest grade A in CDP's ranking in the area of Climate change.

This year, almost 25,000 companies participated in CDP's ranking. The grade of A means that Midsona is considered one of the best companies globally when it comes to climate change strategy and leadership. CDP's annual process is recognized as the leading initiative for corporate environmental transparency, as it evaluates actions and performance to mitigate climate-related risks and to reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

"We are very proud to once again receive CDP's recognition of our performance and that we reach the absolute top of their ranking by achieving the grade A. This is an acknowledgement of the broad work we are doing to reduce our climate impact and reach our climate target," says Peter Åsberg, CEO and President of Midsona.
