Humana Assistans AB appeals the District Court's decision to reject the damage claim against the state

The Board of Directors of Humana AB has decided to appeal the District Court's decision to reject Humana Assistans AB's damage claim against the state regarding IVO's erroneous decision to revoke Humana Assistans's permit.

Humana's initial assessment is that the District Court has not examined Humana's submissions in all respects. For example, the District Court accepts the state's position that deficiencies should not be put in relation to the size of the provider.

In order for Humana Assistans's appeal to be examined on the merits, the Court of Appeal must first grant leave to appeal. At present, Humana Assistans has no information about when the Court of Appeal's decision regarding leave to appeal or a decision on the issue of damages may be announced.
