

ZymIQ launches Kalzyme™ in Denmark

ZymIQ strengthens its market presence in Denmark and Sweden as VetApotek today introduces Kalzyme™ to its product range. VetApotek, a leading distributor of veterinary medicines and quality pet products in Denmark and Sweden, will offer Kalzyme through its extensive e-commerce platform.

Kalzyme™, already an established brand in the Swedish market, is a range of enzyme-based dental and dermal products with clinically proven effectiveness, developed by researchers and veterinarians with the goal of offering safe and effective health products for dogs and cats.

VetApotek, part of Evidensia Djursjukvård, offers high-quality products for pet care and veterinary medicine through its online pharmacy to support animal health. Through this partnership, even more animals in Sweden, and now also in Denmark, will be able to benefit from Kalzyme's enzyme products for skin and dental health.

Kalzyme's unique enzyme technology is specifically developed to strengthen the natural defense and reduce the risk of harmful bacteria growth by breaking down the biofilm. Kalzyme Dental Spray helps combat plaque and tartar buildup while supporting a healthy balance of bacteria in the mouth and freshening breath. Kalzyme Dermal Spray and Gel create a soothing protective layer over for example, skin irritations, hotspots, redness and itching.

"Kalzyme's growth continues as more and more customers and partners realize the value of our products. This expansion with VetApotek marks another important step in our journey, and we are very excited to offer Kalzyme to the Danish market. Through our collaboration with VetApotek, we look forward to helping even more pets achieve a better quality of life."
