

Avonova buys Grenland Occupational Health Service – Strengthens the Offering for Local Companies

vonova, the Nordics' leading provider of occupational health services, is pleased to announce the acquisition of Grenland Occupational Health Services.

With this acquisition, Avonova aims to strengthen its presence in Telemark, as well as offer local companies an expanded range of services and modern digital solutions – while still ensuring that they receive the same personalized follow-up to which they are accustomed.

“The customers of Grenland Occupational Health Services will now benefit from broader expertise, more resources, and innovative technological solutions, all while maintaining the close relationship with the local team,” says Øyvind Stokstad, Managing Director of Avonova.

Benefits for Grenland occupational health services customers:

- Expanded service offering: Customers will gain access to Avonova’s comprehensive health services and digital solutions, including Avonova Assist, which combines occupational health, HR, and HSE into one tailored solution.
- Personalized follow-up: The local team at Grenland Occupational Health Services will remain onboard to ensure a seamless transition and provide personal follow-up to customers.
- Forward-looking technology: With Avonova’s digital platform, customers will have enhanced access to reporting tools, follow-up, and customized services.

“This acquisition marks an important step in our growth strategy and gives the customers of Grenland Occupational Health Services the opportunity to benefit from Avonova’s forward-looking solutions. We look forward to creating even better workplaces together,” concludes Øyvind Stokstad.
