

W5 Solutions receives a strategic order from existing Nordic partner

Today, the fast-growing and high-tech defence company W5 Solutions, listed on Nasdaq First North, receives a strategically important order for integration kits from an existing Nordic partner. Deliveries will take place in 2023, and the order value is approximately 10 MSEK.

"We are proud to deliver our qualified products and the continued trust shown by our partner. This order is strategically important and strengthens our position as a systems integrator on the market," says Lars Pettersson, Sales Manager within the Communication & Integration business area at W5 Solutions.

We have solid experience installing and integrating products and systems on several platforms on land, in the air and at sea. This is possible thanks to our good collaboration with other world-leading business partners.
