

Qben Infra's platform company Laje awarded NOK 77 million frame agreement

Qben Infra's platform company Laje AS has been awarded a frame agreement by Norwegian broadband company Eidsiva Bredbånd for planning and development of broadband infrastructure during 2025.

Laje estimates that the agreement will generate revenues of approximately NOK 77 million.

Laje's scope of work includes planning and implementation of fiber installations for Eidsiva Bredbånd's B2C and B2B customers. Laje will also conduct maintenance of existing fiber infrastructure.

Eidsiva Bredbånd delivers, builds, sells and operates high speed fiber broadband to private households in Innlandet county and to the commercial market in the Eastern part of Norway.

Laje is the main platform company in Qben Infra's Power niche.

Laje is a focused infrastructure construction and service company within the energy infrastructure, telecom and electrification sector. The company's business is divided into three business segments: energy infrastructure, telecom and electrification, all focusing on the ongoing electrification and digitalization megatrends.
