JUMP GATE ENTERS INTO DEVELOPMENT AGREEMENT WITH MOBILE GAMES PUBLISHER FOR A NEW GAME PROJECT WITH A BUDGET OF CA 19 MILLION SEK

Jumpgate subsidiary Tivola Games GmbH has entered into a development agreement with a yet to be announced Mobile Games Publisher ("Publisher") for a new game project with a budget of ca 19 million SEK. The project is intended for German federal co-financing, with 10.5 million SEK being provided by the Publisher and 8.5 million SEK being provided by federal funds, subject to final award of funds from the German game funding programme.

The project duration is 15 months with a planned start in March 2026. The project will primarily be executed by Tivola Games with some support from the Publisher. Jumpgate has a significant upside through revenue share after the Publisher has recovered its development costs.

"We welcome the addition of another externally financed game project to our project pipeline. With support from the German federal funding program, we can maintain a significant upside in the project while covering the development costs through external funding. The Tivola team has worked hard to put this deal together before the holidays. The application for federal funding will be submitted shortly, and we expect the final decision in the beginning of 2026", says Harald Riegler, CEO Jumpgate AB.
