

Cavotec appoints new members of Group Management

Cavotec has appointed Jonathan Eriksson as Senior Vice President and Head of Industry Division and Nicklas Vedin as Senior Vice President and Head of Ports & Maritime Division. Patrick Mares, in Group Management since 2019, has been appointed Senior Vice President, Product Management and Chief Technology Officer.

The two new members of Group Management come from senior roles at Cavotec and know both the company and the market very well.

"We now have a Group Management team with a strong focus on customers and sales as well as operational excellence," says David Pagels, CEO and President of Cavotec. "We have a clear goal to build value and this requires high energy levels, experience and good judgment. With our new Group Management, we have created good conditions to continue growing and creating value."

Other members of the Group Management are, as before, Patrick Baudin, responsible for the service operations, Jörgen Ohlsson, Head of Global Operations, Vanessa Tisci, Chief Legal & Human Resources Officer and Joakim Wahlquist, Chief Financial Officer.

In addition, Gabriella Sereni has been appointed Head of Marketing and Communications. She joined Cavotec in 2022 as Group Sales Enablement Manager and has previously worked as Marketing Communications and Product Marketing Manager at Atlas Copco, among others.
