

Enhanced Collaboration with Swiss Innovation Forces

Divio Technologies is pleased to announce the signing of a new framework contract with the innovation agency of the Swiss Armed Forces, following the successful partnership announced on September 12, 2024. This agreement marks a significant expansion of our collaboration, particularly in sectors where security is paramount.

"Our customers have expressed a strong desire to continue working with us, extending their trust to areas where security is a top priority," said Jon Levin, CEO of Divio Technologies. "This not only underscores our ability to deliver exceptional value but also highlights our ability to differentiate ourselves from the competition, providing our clients with the peace of mind they need."
