

Cavotec signs USD 5 million shore power order with global shipping company

Cavotec has signed an order for shore power with a global shipping company, valued at about USD 5 million. The order includes a substantial number of PowerFit shore power units, enabling vessels to connect to shore power with ease while docked. Deliveries is scheduled later this year.

Cavotec's PowerFit units represent a breakthrough in shore power technology, offering complete containerized solutions for high voltage vessel connections. By facilitating shore power connections, these systems significantly reduce air and noise pollution in ports.

"This partnership with a global shipping company is yet another confirmation of the strength of our offering," said Patrick Mares, President of Ports & Maritime Division at Cavotec. "Our innovative shore power systems contribute to the decarbonisation of ports worldwide as well as quieter port environments."

Cavotec is at the forefront of delivering highly innovative shore power solutions and services with more systems installed around the world than any other provider. Our solutions are today installed on cruise vessels, container ships Ro/Pax and Ro/Ro ferries. PowerFit is a complete containerized solution and includes all equipment for a high voltage shore connection: PowerAMPReel, high voltage switchboard, control panel, high/low voltage transformer and other auxiliary systems for an ease of operations.
