Enea appoints Teemu Salmi as new CEO

The board of Enea AB has appointed Teemu Salmi as the new President and CEO, with starting date April 1, 2025.

Teemu Salmi joins from Nordic cybersecurity provider Nixu Corporation, which he joined as CEO in 2022 and that has since been acquired by DNV. He has previously held senior positions in Ericsson and Stora Enso, where he has led international sales, commercial and technical delivery organizations, including several years in the Middle East and Africa. With his long standing background within both telecom and cybersecurity, and personal qualities, Teemu Salmi has the necessary experience and skillset to successfully lead the company's continued evolution to generate value for customers, employees, and shareholders.

"I am happy about the trust put in me and extremely motivated to start working with the company and board, to continue to successfully grow Enea.", says Teemu Salmi.

"It has been a long process to find the right candidate and I am very pleased to be able to announce Teemu as our new CEO. With his background in both telecom and cybersecurity he is perfect in this role", says Chairman of the board Kjell Duveblad.

Until April 1, 2025, Enea's interim President and CEO Anders Lidbeck will continue to drive the company's agenda to further strengthen its market position and value creation.
