

Hexatronic signs 7-year contract with Chorus in New Zealand

Hexatronic Fiber Solutions has established a strong and successful partnership with New Zealand's broadband operator, Chorus, over the years. A new 7-year agreement has been signed with Chorus for micro duct, fiber cable, and network products for the continued expansion of Chorus' fiber network in New Zealand.

"We are delighted to have renewed trust from Chorus in New Zealand. Our local presence and high-quality fiber solutions have been the foundation for a successful partnership between Hexatronic and Chorus, which goes back a long way. We intend to maintain our strong commitment to the region in the coming years," said Rikard Fröberg, CEO of Hexatronic Group.

"With local manufacturing of duct solutions in New Zealand and an experienced team on site, we have a strong regional offering. Chorus is at the forefront of fiber optic infrastructure and is contributing to New Zealand's progress in providing high-speed broadband to all households," said Phil Jones, Managing Director, Hexatronic New Zealand.

Hexatronic New Zealand offers micro duct systems, active and passive telecom solutions and related services to customers across Oceania. The micro ducts are manufactured at the company's production facility in Wellington, New Zealand.
