Acconeer has shipped more than 200 000 A1 radar sensors

As of today, Acconeer has shipped more than 200 000 A1 radar sensors in total since the company started selling Evaluation Kits (EVKs) in February 2018.

Lars Lindell, CEO Acconeer, comments: "In February 2020 we reached the milestone of having shipped our first 100 000 sensors, 24 months after the sales start. Since then, shipments of sensors are accelerating and less than seven months later we have now passed 200 000 shipped sensors in total. This confirms that the company is on track to increase sales volumes, and we now look forward to passing the next milestone of having sold half a million sensors."
