Norwegian Linq Prosjekt joins XPartners – expanding the group’s offering

XPartners is strengthening its presence in Norway through the acquisition of Linq Prosjekt AS – a project management company with deep expertise in aquaculture. The acquisition broadens the group’s offering in project and construction management while reinforcing its presence in Trøndelag and Northern Norway.

Linq Prosjekt has extensive experience in managing large and complex aquaculture projects, offering services in project management, design management, construction management, and health and safety coordination. The company is active throughout all project phases and has established itself as a strong player in the Norwegian market. It also has international experience from several projects in Europe, including Iceland, the Netherlands, and Spain.

“Linq Prosjekt is an impressive company with strong competence, clear customer focus, and a proven track record in a rapidly growing field. This acquisition strengthens our Norwegian foundation and expands our specialist expertise in project management. We see great potential in the collaboration with other companies in our group and are truly happy that they’ve chosen to join XPartners,” says Sonny Mirborn, CEO of XPartners.

The company currently has just under 20 employees in Stjørdal, Verdal, and Bodø, and works with well-known players such as Hima Seafood, Mowi, SalMar, Helgeland Smolt, Nova Sea, among others. In addition, the company has major projects within transport and infrastructure.

“We’re very excited to become part of XPartners! It feels like a perfect fit – we’ll have the opportunity to grow alongside like-minded companies while preserving our entrepreneurial spirit and culture. Together, we’ll be able to take on even bigger and more exciting projects going forward,” says Espen Storstad, CEO of Linq Prosjekt.
