Norwegian Dynabyte joins XPartners

XPartners continues its Nordic growth journey and is now welcoming Norwegian company Dynabyte Group to the group. The acquisition enhances XPartners' capabilities in project management, risk assessment, procurement, and logistics – with a particular focus on the building and infrastructure sectors.

Dynabyte Group, founded in 2009, offers specialist services in four core areas: project management, risk management, procurement and contracts, and construction site and supply chain logistics. By combining technical expertise with commercial insight, they help clients manage complex societal development projects with high quality, reliability, and efficiency – from planning to execution.

“Dynabyte Group holds a strong position in the Norwegian market, with deep expertise and a clear focus on complex, large-scale public projects. They strengthen our offering in several key areas and bring valuable experience that benefits the entire group. We’re very pleased to welcome them to XPartners,” says Sonny Mirborn, CEO of XPartners.

The company currently has around 30 employees and primarily works with large public-sector clients. Its long-term customer relationships are built on trust, specialization, and proven delivery capacity.

“We’re very excited to become part of XPartners. To take the next step in our growth journey, we need new opportunities, stronger partnerships, and access to a wider network – and we’re getting all of that here. XPartners gives us the right conditions to keep growing, without compromising our focus or independence,” says Thomas Karlsen, CEO of Dynabyte Group.
