Solid result in turbulent times

The group's results for Q4 2025

The group delivered operating profit before tax of NOK 1,993 million in the fourth quarter of 2025, compared with NOK 2,120 million in the previous quarter. The result is driven by a strong net interest income and a solid contribution from commission and other income. Reduced income from financial investments due to MtM changes negatively impacts the result.

Operating profit before tax increased by NOK 253 million compared with the fourth quarter of 2024. The improvement in profit is driven by higher revenues, with an increased contribution from financial investments of NOK 194 billion.

The return on equity after tax was 11.9% for the quarter (12.8% adjusted for goodwill from the merger).

Net interest income

Net interest income amounted to NOK 2,323 million for the fourth quarter of 2025, compared with NOK 2,328 million in the previous quarter. Growth and reduced funding cost mitigate the negative effect from the interest rate change applied to customers in November. Compared with the same quarter last year, net interest income increased by NOK 30 million, which was mainly due to growth in lending and deposits.

The average net interest margin was 1.81% in the fourth quarter of 2025, compared with 1.79% in the third quarter of 2025 and 1.91% in the same quarter last year.

Net commission and other income amounted to NOK 818 million for the fourth quarter of 2025, an increase of NOK 40 million compared with the previous quarter. There has been a positive development across most income areas, while commissions from real estate agencies decreased due to seasonal effects.

Compared with the fourth quarter of 2024, there is an increase of NOK 29 million. The increase was mainly due to higher income from insurance products and commissions from real estate agencies. This was partially offset by reduced commissions from the accounting firm and a decline in income from payment facilities.

Sustainable development

SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA aims to contribute to achieving the Paris Agreement goal of limiting global warming to 1.5°C. To support this ambition, the group has set a target of net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050, both from its own operations and from its lending and investment portfolios. For material industries measured by lending volume, greenhouse gas emissions, and energy consumption as well as for the group's own operations, specific emission pathways have been adopted with emission trajectories toward 2050.

As part of this work, a target has been set to increase the share of lending that qualifies under the group's sustainable finance framework to 25 percent by 2030. At the end of the fourth quarter of 2025, the bank had financed approximately NOK 79 billion that qualifies, corresponding to 19.9 percent of total lending.

Synergies

Total cost synergies from the merger and the establishment of SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA are estimated to be NOK 550 million annually from and including 2027.

In the fourth quarter of 2025, the group increased its estimated cost synergies from NOK 450 million to NOK 550 million, primarily driven by changes to the group management and the organisational structure. The organisational adjustments are expected to release 50 full-time equivalents (FTEs) within management, staff and support functions. These reductions are in addition to the group's previously announced target of reducing 100 FTEs by the end of 2026.

Allocation of profit for the year

SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA's financial objective is to achieve results that ensure a solid and stable return on the bank's equity, thereby creating value for its shareholders through competitive returns in form of dividends and appreciation of the share price.

The board will propose to the General Meeting a dividend of NOK 12.0 per share for 2025. This corresponds to a payout ratio of 71%, or 73% including the initiated share buyback programme of 1.0% of the group's outstanding shares.

Outlook

The Norwegian economy has experienced a period of elevated inflation and subdued activity, particularly within the construction sector. Nevertheless, the economy as a whole has demonstrated considerable resilience, supported by robust activity in the energy sector, manufacturing and export-oriented industries.

In January 2026, Norges Bank decided to maintain the policy rate at 4.0%. Although inflation has eased substantially, it remains above the 2% target, with underlying inflation close to 3%. Norges Bank has signalled the possibility of one or two rate cuts in 2026. However, the Bank emphasises the considerable uncertainty surrounding the future interest rate path.

SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA's business survey, published in January 2026, indicates that the business sector in Southern Norway enters the new year with expectations of increased activity, higher employment, and improved profitability. Optimism is strongest on the West Coast and in the Greater Oslo region, while Agder reports somewhat weaker prospects. The industries expressing the highest levels of optimism are manufacturing, retail trade, and oil- and gas-related businesses, whereas the construction sector anticipates a challenging year with low activity levels.

Low unemployment and expected real wage growth will strengthen household purchasing power and demand. At the same time, low residential construction activity is expected to contribute to an even tighter housing market, with a risk of further price increases, particularly in central areas.

The group's financial objectives and ambitions are as follows:

- The group's long-term financial target for the return on equity is higher than 14% and to be among the top three comparable financial groups in Norway. This will be achieved through profitable growth in lending and other income, cost and capital efficiency and realising of synergies.
- The group has reduced its long-term target for the cost to income ratio from 40% to 35%.
- Based on the authorities' CET1 capital ratio requirements and the Pillar 2 guidance, the group's CET1 capital ratio target is a minimum of 16.72%.
- The group's dividend policy is to distribute above 50% in cash dividend of the profit for the year. The group has established a share buyback program as a supplement to cash dividends. Dividend decisions are made with due consideration for the Group's financial needs, capital adequacy and strategic targets.

Through the savings bank model, value creation is returned to the local communities. The Board's proposed dividend will supply our seven foundations with NOK 2.0 billion for distribution throughout Southern Norway.

The board is of the opinion that the drivers of structural changes within the savings bank sector remain present, and intends to address these with a proactive approach. The group's objective is to ensure long-term value creation for customers, employees, shareholders and local communities. A strong collaboration between residents, businesses, and the bank is crucial for development in the group's market area. The board will prioritize continuing this strong collaboration.

The objective to become one of the top three comparable financial groups in Norway implies a constant focus on initiatives that can improve profitability and deliver high-quality customer experiences. Provided that operating conditions remain broadly stable, the Board expects SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA to continue its positive development in 2026.

The board would like to thank the group's management and employees for their excellent efforts in 2025.

Stavanger, 11.02.2026

Note 1 Accounting policies

1.1 Basis of preparation

These interim financial statements for SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA cover the period 1 January - 31 December 2025. The interim financial statements were prepared in accordance with IAS 34 Interim Financial Reporting. The interim financial statements are unaudited. These interim financial statements were prepared in accordance with the applicable IFRS® standards and IFRIC interpretations.

The interim financial statements do not include all the information required for full annual financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the annual financial statements for 2024.

On 29 August 2025, the Norwegian Financial Supervisory Authority granted permission to SpareBank 1 Sør-Norge ASA to include the portfolio from the former SpareBank 1 Sørøst-Norge in its IRB system.

The bank implemented revised IRB models for Corporate Banking in the fourth quarter of 2025, and the bank implemented the new IRB A approval for Corporate Leasing in the same quarter.

New and revised standards not yet implemented :

There are no other new standards, amendments to standards or interpretations which has been implemented since 01.01.2025 with material effect on the group or parent bank's financial statements.

New standards and interpretations that have not been adopted yet:

There are a number of new standards, changes to the standards and interpretations that are mandatory for future annual accounts. There are no standards or interpretations that have not been adopted yet, that are expected to have any material effects on the group's statements.

Note 2 Critical estimates and judgements concerning use of the accounting policies

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements entails the group executive management making estimates, judgements and assumptions that affect the effect of the application of the accounting policies and thus the amounts recognised for assets, liabilities, income and costs. Note 3 of the annual financial statements for 2024 explains in more detail the use of critical estimates and judgements when applying the accounting policies.

Impairments on loans

The group's assessment of critical estimates and judgements concerning the use of the accounting policies has not changed since 31.12.2024.

The group conducts annual evaluation of its corporate market portfolio. High-risk exposures in the corporate market portfolio are evaluated on a quarterly basis. Loans to retail customers are subject to evaluation when they are more than 90 days past due; larger exposures in default are evaluated on a quarterly basis.

The group's risk classification systems are described under financial risk management in the annual report.

The group carries out an impairment if there is objective evidence that can be identified for an individual exposure, and the objective evidence entails a reduction in future cash flows for servicing the exposure. Objective evidence may be default, bankruptcy, insolvency or other significant financial difficulties.

Individual impairment provisions are calculated as the difference between the loan's book (carrying) value and the present value of future cash flows based on the effective interest rate at the time of the calculation of the initial individual impairment. Account is taken of subsequent changes in interest rates for loan agreements with variable rates if these changes affect the expected cash flow. For smaller exposures, the general rule is that the difference between the actual exposure at the time of impairment and the realisation value (underabsorption) of the pledged collateral is written down, and that the impairment is based on one scenario. For larger exposures, the general rule is that the difference between the actual exposure and the bank's assessment of the discounted value of the customer's future cash flow is written down, and the impairment is based on three scenarios.

According to IFRS 9, loss provisions are recognised for all exposures based on expected credit loss (ECL). The measurement of the provisions for expected losses on exposures that are not individually impaired depends on whether or not the credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition. Upon initial recognition and when the credit risk has not increased significantly after initial recognition, provisions must be made for 12 months' expected losses. If the credit risk has increased substantially after initial recognition, provisions must be made for expected losses over the entire lifetime. Expected credit loss is calculated on the basis of the present value of all cash flows over the remaining expected lifetime.

Climate related issues are given increased attention in the credit assessments, and the related risks are first and foremost uncovered through the utilisation of an ESG-module in the credit related work. Climate-related risk is also taken into account in the assessment of individual impairments. A need for specific, climate related impairment provisions has so far not been deemed necessary. The scoring from the ESG-module is included in the stress test-model which is used, among other things, for the preparation of climate-related stress tests. Further development and clarifications regarding how expectations of climate related credit losses are to be included in the impairment provisions/IFRS 9-model are still needed. Also refer to note 6 in the annual financial statements for 2024.

A probability weighted average is calculated for four different scenarios: an upside scenario, a base scenario, an sector crisis scenario and a stress scenario, respectively. The base scenario is based on the most recent edition of "Monetary Policy Report", and represents a normal business cycle. The upside scenario represents a period of economic growth with better macro economic prospects than the base scenario. The sector crisis scenario represents a sector-specific downturn period, currently based on a scenario involving a prolonged trade war. This selected sector crisis scenario is aligned with the group's overall scenario framework. The stress scenario is linked to the group's periodic internal capital adequacy assessment process (ICAAP) for a period of comprehensive economic decline. The scenarios are reviewed quarterly by an internal working group consisting of senior-level personnel and are adjusted if there are significant changes in the macroeconomic outlook. In Q4 2025, some model improvements were implemented, which, together with macroeconomic developments and a slight negative trend in credit risk, contribute to an increase in loan loss provisions. No changes have been made to the scenario weighting during the current period. The total impairment charges for exposures without individual write-downs have increased by NOK 7 million. This increase should be viewed in relation to exposures that were individually written down during the period.

The choice of scenarios and their weighting are regularly reviewed (at least once a year) by the aforementioned working group. As at 31 December 2025, the upside scenario had a 5% weighting, the base scenario had a 85% weighting, the adverse scenario had a 7,5% weighting, and the stress scenario had a weighting of 2,5%. The weighting is the same for all portfolios and reflects the uncertainty associated with economic developments going forward. In order to illustrate the associated weight sensitivity, a simulation of the effects of a more conservative scenario weighting was conducted in which the weight of the update scenario is unchanged at 5%, base scenario was reduced to 75%, the adverse scenario was increased to 10,0% and the stress scenario were increased to 10,0%. Such a change in the scenario weighting would, all else equal, increase the group's expected impairment losses for commitments without individual impairment by NOK 209 million.

Closely monitoring customers and prevention work are important measures actively employed by the group to maintain its good risk profile in the group's loan portfolio.

Fair value of financial derivatives and other financial instruments

The fair value of derivatives is determined using valuation methods where the price of the underlying instrument, for example, interest rate or currency rate, is obtained from the market. When measuring financial instruments for which observable market data is not available, the group makes assumptions regarding what market actors would base their valuation on for equivalent financial instruments. Valuations require extensive use of discretion, including when calculating liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Any change in the aforementioned factors will affect the fair value determined for the group's financial instruments. For more information see note 25 on the classification of financial instruments in the annual financial statements for 2024. In the case of options, volatility will be either observed implicit volatility or calculated volatility based on historical price movements for the underlying object.

IT-infrastructure

Furthermore, several measures have been implemented to secure the bank's IT infrastructure and to prevent potential cyber-attacks on the most critical systems and processes.

The group's assessments of critical estimates and judgements regarding its use of accounting policies are challenging but are currently considered to be the best estimate

Note 10 Segment reporting

A business segment is part of an entity that is engaged in providing individual products or services that are subject to risks and returns that are different from those of other business segments. As regards to segment reporting, the group executive management team is the supreme decisionmaking authority. The figures in the segment reporting are based on internal reporting for the group executive management team.

The executive management team has assessed which segments are reportable based on the form of distribution, products and customers. The primary reporting format is based on the risk and return profile of the assets, and it is divided between retail market, corporate market and SME & agriculture. Other activities covers all staff departments including treasury, subsidiaries and associated companies.

1) Net interest income contains allocated arrangements between the segments. The interest on intercompany receivables for the retail market, corporate market and SME & agriculture is determined on the basis of expected observable market interest rates (NIBOR) plus expected additional costs in connection with the group's long-term funding (credit premium). Deviations between the Group's actual funding costs and the applied interest on intercompany receivables are eliminated in the parent bank.

Note 12 Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the group is not able to refinance its debt or is not able to finance an increase in assets. The bank's framework for managing liquidity risk shall reflect the bank's conservative risk profile. The board has adopted internal limits such that the bank has as balanced a maturity structure for its borrowing as possible. Stress testing is conducted for the various terms of maturity for bank-specific crises, system crises and combinations of these. A contingency plan has also been put in place to manage liquidity crises. The average remaining term to maturity in the portfolio of senior bond funding and covered bonds was 3.3 years at the end of the fourth quarter of 2025. The total LCR was 182% at the end of the fourth quarter, and the average total LCR was 167% in the quarter. The LCR in NOK and EUR at the end of the quarter was 109% and 1.470%, respectively.

Note 13 Information about fair value

Group

The table below shows financial instruments at fair value according to their valuation method. The different levels are defined as follows:

Level 1: Listed price in an active market for an identical asset or liability

Level 2: Valuation based on observable factors other than listed price (used in level 1) either direct (price) or indirect (deduced from prices) for the asset or liability.

Level 3: Valuation based on factors not obtained from observable markets (non-observable assumptions)

¹⁾ Value changes are recognised in net income from financial instruments. Other assets are measured using various methods such as last known transaction price, earnings per share, dividend per share, EBITDA and discounted cash flows. Fixed-rate loans are measured on the basis of the interest rate agreed with the customer. Loans are discounted using the applicable having taken into account a market premium, which is adjusted for the profit margin. The conducted sensitivity analyses indicate an increase in the discount rate of 10 basis points would have a negative effect on the result amounting to NOK 26 million.
